DENSE LINES DEFENCE BROKEN BY RUSSIA AS ARMY WADES ARMPITS DEEP IN RIVER

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, August 15.—The Austrians and Germans in Galicia are still falling back before the advance of the Russians, who, according to Petrograd, have made additional gains along the Sereth and Zlota Lipa rivers, and have captured the strongly fortified town of Tustobaby, northwest of the Dniester.

The rapid Russian advance in Galicia continues. The Russians are crossing to the western banks of the Zlota Lipa and Bystritsa-Solotvina and advancing along the upper Stripa.

On the upper Sereth, however, the Teutonic allies at some points on their newly chosen line are holding back the Russians with a vigorous artillery fire. Berlin says that south of Brody on the Lub and Graberka sector, Russian attacks were put down with heavy losses and that Russians who had penetrated the Teutonic positions on the Zboroff-Konjucay line, northeast of Tarnopol, were driven off.

The French captured the German trenches on a front of 300 yards long and 100 deep north of Chapel Saint Fine at the intersection of the Fleury Vaux road, on the right bank of the Meuse, on the Verdun sector. On the Somme front French artillery is active. Nearly all the remaining trenches northwest of Pozieres, on the Somme front, wherein the Germans gained a footing Sunday, have been retaken.

The Austrians suffered further reverses at the hands of the Italians on Carso plateau, east of Gorizia, along the Isonzo front, where Austrian entrenchments in both regions were captured.

Petrograd reports a continuation of the Turkish offensive of the Persian frontier, but asserts that a retreat of the Turks has been forced on the southwest bank of Lake Van, through the fire of the Russian flotilla on the lake. The Turkish war office says the Persian frontier, but asserts that a retreat of the Turks has been and that in Armenia, north of Bitlis, the Turks have made a further advance.

BOTH SIDES ARE DEADLOCKED AND THE PRESIDENT IS UNABLE TO MAKE ANY IMPRESSION

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, August 15.—Orders for the remaining mobilized units of the guardsmen to proceed to the border were suspended by the War department today. No official explanation was made, but it is known that the delicacy of the railway strike settlement of the differences.

Suspension of the order which would have moved 25,000 men to the border should not be taken as an indication that the president's negotiations with the brotherhoods and railroad managers have taken an unfavorable turn, but as a measure of caution. It was considered highly undesirable to have the remaining guardsmen moved to the border while there is a possibility of a railroad strike.

A telegram from Funston published by the War department disclosed that Gen. Funston recommended the suspension order.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, August 15.—President Wilson made many informal suggestions to the brotherhoods and railway managers at separate conferences, but thus far he has made little progress toward a settlement of the difficulties. It is known that he suggested that the railway managers accept the principle of the eight hour day and leave the wording and application to the Interstate Commerce commission or any other body.

An official close to the situation expressed the opinion that the contending factions were apparently deadlocked, although there still was a possibility of agreement. It was learned that the president used every argument he could command to obtain concessions from both sides, but thus far without success. The railroads are understood to be ready to concede the eight hours provided the concessions made to the brotherhoods are not too heavy a burden to fall alone on the railroads.

The men take the stand that the eight hours conditions shall be enforced whenever possible. The railroads said they believe this impossible to accept unless a workable system of application is possibly built up.

While the managers were at the White House the brotherhood leaders conferred, awaiting their call for a conference with the president. The leaders are inclined to the view that the controversy can be settled by the railroads granting a basis of eight hours and arbitrating the demands for time and a half overtime, or, eliminating the double compensation features, by having the railroads make a flat agreement for an eight hour day.

It is apparent that the feeling of optimism prevailing yesterday has been dissipated.

No form of arbitration will now be considered, the members of the employees' committee declared. They said there was a possibility of an agreement being reached on one of several compromises under consideration.

President Wilson conferred most of the night with both parties to the threatened country wide railway strike and this morning it appeared that sufficient foundation had been laid to furnish a working basis for a settlement of the differences.

The foremost questions are what shall be arbitrated, if arbitration is to be resorted to, and what form of arbitration shall be adopted. The employees are understood to be ready to consent to the principle of arbitration in the contingent proposals of the managers, which the men claim involve rights they have won in 30 years' effort, are eliminated from consideration, and if arbitration is conducted by a board on which all four brotherhoods are represented.

Immediately after learning the employees' position the president summoned the committee of managers and held a long conference with them. They left the White House to confer among themselves throughout the night, if necessary, and the general understanding was that they discussed the advisability of withdrawing their contingency proposals and submitting a proposition "without strings," as demanded by the men.

While representatives of the employees insisted that they had not yet agreed to arbitrate any future of their differences, there was a growing impression that arbitration, or some form of compromise, would be agreed upon. At no time, it was said, did the representatives of the men indicate that unless their demands were granted unqualifiedly they would go on strike.

Both sides refused absolutely to discuss their meeting with the president or venture any forecast on the

CHINESE-JAPAN WAR MAY PROVE SERIOUS

(By Associated Press.)

TOKIO, August 15.—Chinese troops this morning attacked the Japanese garrison at Chengchiatun, between Mukden and Chao-yangfu and have killed or wounded 17 Japanese soldiers and killed one officer. According to official advices from Chengchiatun, the Japanese barracks now is besieged by Chinese soldiers.

Reinforcements are being rushed to the beleaguered garrison from the Japanese forces stationed at Kayuan and Sudinghai. The fighting resulted from the arrest of a Japanese merchant.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The attack on the Japanese garrison at Chengchiatun, eastern Mongolia, as reported from Tokio, disturbs officials here as the possible forerunner of difficulties between the two powers. The fact that Japanese reinforcements were rushed to the scene leads to the belief that Japan is bent on the vigorous handling of disputes within her jurisdiction in China.
